Cam Drive Housing Gaskets & Kits

Master Packing & Rubber Company (MPRC) has studied leak points of diesel engines and developed premium materials to improve sealing performance, while assisting customers in staying within required environmental guidelines.

MPRCseals.com offers three select material options for your specific sealing requirements: CG1, CG2, and our newest gasket material-CGX. CGX was developed to mold into slight metal imperfections found on flat surfaces that other materials fail to seal.

Call today at 800-397-3429 or visit us at mprcseals.com to see if CGX is right for your application.

Since 1982, Master Packing & Rubber Company has become a sealing specialist recognized by OEM's, Railroad, Marine, and Power Generation Companies, providing innovative sealing solutions for some of the most demanding applications. Keeping the engine sealed is a primary goal, and using MPRCSeals.com premium materials has significantly improved this goal.
